

Reading Daily

Read today for 30 minutes and fill in your planner. When you have completed a book, then complete the quiz. You can access AR Reader and quizzes online whilst at home. Choose another book within your range using AR Bookfinder to check the level. Record in your diary how much you have read. Email me and tell me when you finish a book and what you thought of it.

Please make sure that you are taking a quiz when you finish your book. Get Reading and Get Testing! If anyone is short of books to read, please email me on:

Spellings

This week think of ten words that you often spell incorrectly in your writing and practise them. Choose words that you use regularly and make the same mistake with. Try to think of a mnemonic or another way of remembering the word. Can you remember lots of you kept writing believe rather than believe?

Times Tables

This week enjoy practising what you have learned on TTRS.

Writing Task

Letter Writing

Today, I would like you to write a letter to Highfields as a school or choose a member of staff to write to.

In your letter, you can share your memories of Highfields or you can share your memories of the staff member you are writing to.

We could share your letters on the website if they are to the school and if you have chosen a member of staff, you could email them the letter or you could send it to me and I will pass it on.

The Big End of Year Quiz

The Odd One Out

This afternoon there is something different. You need to use your powers of observation; your ability to reason and think things through and your powers of deduction. You can either explore and read through the power point which shows many pictures, in groups of 4, or you can use the activity sheets which show the same pictures to record your answer and ideas.

You must decide which picture is the odd one out and give a reason why. Your answer might be different from the one given, but if you can justify your choice then it is up to you whether you agree or disagree. You could play this on your own, with your brother or sister or as a family game.
